The Total Gym XLS is the flagship product of Total Gym's range. There's a good chance you've seen it or one of its predecessors on the TV, the infomercials featuring Chuck Norris and Christie Brinkley have been getting on my nerves for years now, but I'll try and put my feelings for their shameless plugging to one side in my Total Gym XLS review below.

Total Gym XLS Review: HONEST review that is!!

$350 to $800 range machines Total Gym 1800 Club. The 1800 model handles up to 300 lbs, and has 6 different incline settings. It comes with Pilates toe bar, dip bars, a wing attachment for pull-ups and leg curls, press-up bars, a leg cuff pulley attachment, and an ab crunch board attachment.

WOD grips are almost a necessity for anyone who is serious about their training and workout routines. The best WOD grips allow athletes to maintain a firm grip on their equipment at all times, leading to a more comfortable, more effective workout. That does not mean you should be an athlete in order to get your own grips, they are useful even for casual home-gym trainees.

The king of the ring is Sanabul. You're literally putting Sanabul Essential GEL Boxing Gloves on to punch the ever-loving crud out of a gym bag or spar against a boxer, so durability is the name of the game when it comes to boxing gloves. Sanabul hit the mark on comfort, and providing a killer sizing chart on their sales page, but when it comes to sparring, they fall short of the mark.
